Rye Volunteer Fire Department

The past year recorded a marked improvement in the loss by fire in Rye and your Volunteer Fire Department believe that the decline in the number of fires is the result of their effort to educate our residents in the simple precaution about the home where so many fires are the result of carelessness.

The ban placed on our woods last summer early in the drought period rather then after a destructive forest fire was received by all in a most cooperative spirit and we hope that should such a ban be necessary in 1951 it will receive the same support. E. LeRoy Greene, forest fire warden, has informed me that 98 permits were issued to burn, therein complying with the state law.

The condition in our woods will be a definite fire hazard for some time due to the wind storm, it is hoped that all owners will make every effort to burn the brush while there is snow on the ground, a suggestion by a member of the fire department is worthy of your consideration "That wood roads and paths be cleared so that in event of a fire, men and equipment will be able to reach it without delay.

Not so many chimney fires, more attention to cleaning and to the fact that year by year we are burning more oil and less wood, possibly this is an economic necessity, but the result is that our woodlots are being neglected and develop a fire hazard.

I wish to call your attention to the loss of life by fire in homes using some form of oil heater, during the past year 17 persons out of the total of 32 dying from burns in the state of New Hampshire died as the result of fires caused by some form of oil stove or heater, it is believed that in the majority of these fires the cause has been neglect, systematic cleaning, checking the level of the supply and care in not taking a full bottle or other container of cold oil into a warm building where this oil will expand and overflow. If there is any possible question in your mind as to the condition of your burner and you do not know how to correct the trouble, seek the advice of a person who does know.

There has been some loss of electric motors due to low voltage during thunder showers and wind storms. Fire can result from this condition and it is suggested that you throw the switch off on all motor-driven equipment when you note the dimming of your electric lights, the short interruption of power will not damage the contents of the refrigerator or deep freeze and will save the motor.

Your generous support of the Rye Volunteer Fire Department Field Day in August made it possible for them to purchase and install a pump on the water tank truck given to the town by the volunteers last year, this piece of fire fighting apparatus has already paid dividends to the department, it was sent to Seabrook in May later to Hampton Beach and to North Hampton.

The Volunteer Department expects to make another gift to the town possible. This will be a radio unit for one or both of the trucks, such equipment will add to the efficiency through the contact with Portsmouth at all times.

Portsmouth has given us valuable assistance during the past year and we have also had assistance from the interstate emergency unit, this unit consists of 30 fire departments surrounding Rye including one from Massachusetts and six from Maine. Any or all of these departments will send fire fighting equipment to the town of Rye upon my request without any charge for their valuable assistance. Rye in turn will respond to a call from any of these fire departments.

With the investment of $7,500 of tax money in our fire fighting apparatus Rye can command the service of $225,000 worth of equipment with the added value of the experienced firemen from these cities and towns,

The fire department was called 39 times during 1950 and I offer the following suggestions for 1951:

Fire department, 35 Rye Beach.

For permits to burn, Fire Warden E. LeRoy Greene, 123 Rye Beach.

If house fire remove persons. Do what you can with safety to prevent spread of fire. Close windows and doors.

Try to have someone in highway to direct fire apparatus.

Give name, road, location on road, some land mark, such as a store or well known home of long time resident. Rye now has many new homes and many new short roads. This will assist the department in responding to the call.

Call the fire department at once. Guilty or not guilty of carelessness, do not fight the fire until you have lost the battle and then call the department expecting that it can save your home or your forest.

Last but not least, the appreciation of the Rye Volunteer Fire Department to the personnel at the Rye Beach telephone central for their efficient cooperation.

Report of the Library Trustees

To the Citizens of Rye:

For the first time in many years of faithful service the Librarian was unable, because of illness, to submit to your Trustees her annual statistical report of the year's work at the Library. Her passing is indeed a loss, as she has worked for the good of the Library ever since it was built in 1911.

Under Miss Drake's direction the Library has continued to be of increasing importance in the town. During the past year she has established closer cooperation with the school, and during the summer has successfully met the needs of the summer population.

Miss Emma Foss has efficiently served as substitute Librarian for some weeks, assisted for a time by Miss Lorene Starcher; and Miss Marjorie Chapman has succeeded Miss Foss.

When the Library floor was refinished this fall, a sag was discovered under the book stacks which required the installation of a heavy supporting beam in the cellar.

We gratefully acknowledge donations of books and magazines from interested friends. Especial thanks are due the Every Other Tuesday Club for its gift of ten dollars and for meeting the express charges on the monthly exhibits of pictures from the Boston Art Museum.

Respectfully submitted,

Helen F. Philbrick,
Annie R. Philbrick,
Thomas J. Morris,

Trustees.

Report of Trustees of Trust Funds

The decline in purchasing power of the dollar has been very drastic during the past ten years. It is quite probable that it will suffer a further serious decline in the next five to ten years.

Investments in Series E Savings Bonds has declined in purchasing power approximately 25%, in Savings and Loan accounts approximately 30%. Cash has declined in its purchasing power approximately 48%.

It is quite obvious from these figures that the so-called "safe and sound" places for your money are neither "safe" nor "sound" because they do not protect you against the decline in purchasing power of your dollar. They are "safe" only to the extent that they pay you back "a" dollar plus interest, but what will the dollar received as interest buy as compared to the dollar of the original trust for the care and preservation of your burial lot, the cemetery and the purchase of books for your Library.

It is the opinion of the Trustees that the best time tested methods of protecting your dollar is through the purchase of equities. They believe that mutual funds are a logical and satisfactory answer to the problem of how to protect the purchasing power of your dollar, although the amount of the dividends may vary, their continuity is reasonably assured because the income is derived from many different sources. The principal income during the year, expenditures during the year and balance of income on hand at the end of the year are shown in detail on the accompanying report.

Investment and re-investment shown in the accompanying report were made on the basis of the foregoing facts.

School Board Report

The School Board respectfully submits the following report:

Construction of the addition to the school was finished in the summer and it was turned over to the Board and formally dedicated Sept. 5, 1950. Use of the addition has greatly improved conditions in the school. There is no overcrowding, and use of the new manual training room has freed the gymnasium for more effective uses than were possible when equipment had to be kept there.

The classrooms in the original building were painted to match and harmonize with the new ones during the summer, greatly improving both the appearance and lighting of these rooms. Light fixtures to match those in the new part were installed in the main building.

A hot lunch program was started in October under the direction of Mrs. George Emery. The Board is indebted to her for supervising and setting up a very fine program which has attracted widespread interest and approval from children, parents, and outside observers. The Board is also greatly indebted to the P.-T.A. volunteers, without whose aid the program would not be nearly as successful.

Four of our teaching staff did not return this fall. Vacancies were filled by

Miss Kathleen Farnum — 2nd grade
Mrs. Loomis — 4th grade
Mrs. Harlow — 5th grade
Mrs. Sykes and Mrs. Evans — junior high

Mrs. Ackerman was added to the staff to help in the primary grades. Miss Farnum was forced to leave in December because of poor health and her place is being taken by Mrs. Norman Jenness.

Applications are on file with the Federal Government by the District for two types of aid to education. If granted one would reimburse the district for a proportion of its current expenses each year; the other would repay a part of the cost of building the addition. We have no way of knowing what action will be taken at this time.

We wish to thank the P.-T.A. under Mrs. Ralph Hammond's leadership for very valuable help and cooperation. It sponsored swimming classes with a Red Cross instructor last summer, the summer round-up for preschool children, and has supplied the volunteer help for the hot lunch program. The organization also undertook the work and expense of furnishing and decorating the nurse-doctor rooms. Their project for the year is playground equipment, indoor and out; and very useful and valuable gifts have been made to the school.

The Board thanks the E. O. T. C. and the Rye V. F. D. for generous contributions to the school.

MARY P. VARRELL.

Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Rye:

I herewith present to you my twenty-first report as Superintendent of your school.

The current year began Wednesday, September 6, 1950, with an initial enrollment of 254. This continues the steady increases of recent years. While the comparative figure of last year was 250, new pupils entering since the opening day bring the total enrollment to 268. That this figure will increase further is evident by a comparison of lower and upper grades. The initial registration of the four lower grades is 150, while that of the four upper grades is 104.

With the completion of the new addition to our school, Rye has definitely increased its service to its children. We believe the work in Home Economics is of real value to our girls. The department is now housed in one of the best units in the state. The work room is large, well lighted, and well arranged. The color of the walls adds to its attractiveness. The closet and drawer space, so frequently neglected in schools, is adequate in Rye. The kitchen is supplied with the most modern equipment and is a room adjoining the main room.

Economy dictates multi-purpose rooms in modern schools. This is all to the good, since rooms used but a few periods a day mean extravagance. The lunch program uses the Home Economics rooms. This program is proving of real advantage to our children. Since such a large proportion of our pupils travel by bus, cold lunches have been the previous requirement in the majority of cases. Now each child, at a minimum cost, receives a complete, balanced meal every school day as a part of the school responsibility. The hot lunch renews the pupils' powers of study and makes the afternoon session more valuable to them. It is also a period of social adjustment to their fellows, since in the informality of the lunch period, children are likely to disclose their real selves. Older children serve as host or hostess at each table, see that all are properly served and that proper decorum is observed. The training acquired by them is valuable. As one or the boys said, "We are all for it, in every way."

Parents, P.-T. A. members, and friends of the school have been constant in helping prepare and serve the food. Such interest bespeaks the interest of the people of Rye in their schools. Surplus commodities to the extent available have also been received from the United States Agricultural Department. Through this help, we have been able to serve a good meal at a moderate price.

The Mechanic Arts department is also housed in a room of considerable size. Many a boy has found his aptitude through work of this type. For the pupil who is not adapted to formal subjects, Mechanic Arts offers a place in the school and a line of future endeavor that makes him a more happy and more skilled citizen.

The health rooms make possible physical examinations without disturbing the regular work of the various classes. The furnishings of these rooms make it possible for the records to be kept in suitable files and in proper location. They add much to the efficiency of this department.

The Parent-Teacher Association continues our interested ally to the school itself. Especially helpful is the work of its members in assisting in preparation of the noon lunches. The hours required are many, but, I am sure, each one feels the time well spent as he sees the pleasure of the children because of this new service. The association has always been interested in helping secure additional equipment of value to the schools. Such help results in added usefulness to the children.

One way of measuring the efficiency of our school program is the degree of success achieved by our pupils in the schools which they later attend. The marks earned by our pupils now in Portsmouth during their first year are reported to us. By this measure, Rye School has done a most satisfactory job. In the first marking period, the only one received at this time, no failing mark was assigned to any of our pupils. This bespeaks good work on the part of our teaching staff in all grades.

This year a remedial teacher is employed by the district. Children vary greatly in rate of learning. As they advance through the grades, the variation becomes more of a handicap to those who, for one reason or another, need extra time in one or two subjects. To give this added time is the work of this remedial teacher.

With increased employment at the Portsmouth Naval Base, our pupil enrollment will continue to increase. This may mean a realignment of our teacher assignments, and probably additional teachers. The pupil load in some of our rooms is already heavy. Were it not for the fact that our teachers are experienced in the work, the results would not be as satisfactory.

There is a possibility of some aid from the Federal government to compensate for the added cost of education because of Federal activities in Portsmouth. This aid is based upon the number of children in our school whose parents have been employed at the Navy Yard because of the national emergency. The amount appropriated by the government is small in comparison with the need, but it would seem to us that Rye School District is entitled to a share of the money involved. Preliminary application has already been made in accordance with this law and the authorization voted by the Rye School District meeting of March 6, 1948.

The schools of New Hampshire will be awake to the national emergency that is now upon us. A committee of school people met in Concord on December 12, 1950, to consider the part the schools should take.

As a first step, this committee agreed upon three points:

1. Although New Hampshire may not be attacked, it is best to assume the worst and be prepared for any eventuality.
2. All teachers should be qualified to administer first aid because (a) if an emergency occurs while school is in session, the teachers will be expected to competently care for the children under her supervision, and (b) teachers would form a nucleus of a supply of trained personnel for each community in case of bombing.
3. All students should receive first aid training geared to each particular age group.

This will mean that time must be taken from the school program for such training. No one can doubt the necessity of such a plan.

Once again we shall be compelled to work under trying conditions. School enrollments will be continually changing, teachers will be leaving for service to the country in war work or the armed services, and supplies and equipment will be scarce and priced in higher brackets. However, we have a new building, an experienced staff of teachers, and interested citizens. I have no doubt that every means will be employed to keep Rye among the best schools of the state.

To this end, we shall all dedicate our best endeavors.

Respectfully submitted,

ROY W. GILLMORE,

Superintendent of Schools.
